New Artist Moving to the Arts & Design District

CARMEL, IN – Susie Rachles will be joining Jerry Points as a partner in the management of Eye On Art Gallery. Rachles is closing her gallery in Zionsville to join Points in one of Carmel’s Arts & Design District’s most successful galleries.

Points said Rachles is a welcome addition to the district. “Susie is an accomplished artist with a great record of juried exhibitions and commission portraits.” Points and Rachles have been colleagues for many years. Both had studios at the Stutz in Indianapolis before opening their own galleries. When asked about the move, Rachles said, “The City of Carmel is supportive of the gallery district and I was amazed at the attendance of the Second Saturday Gallery Walks.”

Eye On Art Gallery has been open for three years with a successful record of sales and a reputation of working closely with home owners and businesses. The gallery represents work from regional, national and international creative artists. “Our gallery will continue to showcase works of art at the highest quality, but at the same time, affordable pricing,” said owner Points. Rachles works will be showcased at Eye On Art Gallery during the Second Saturday Gallery Walk on July 13.
